I. INTRODUCTION

In a broad sense, Corporate Governance is defined as the proper assignment of powers and responsibilities among the Board of Directors, the Management and the owners of an Organization. Such definition encompasses a set of duties and activities aimed at establishing the strategy of the Organization, for the purposes of achieving its objectives under a properly controlled risk structure and ensuring the responsible use of resources, thus constituting a key element for the enhancement of economic efficiency and growth, as well as the promotion of trust amongst stakeholders (employees, customers, suppliers, the community, etc.).

Corporate Governance practices strengthen the Governing and Controlling Bodies of Companies, as they are necessary to maintain a stable and productive relationship amongst the participants in any Institution. Corporate Governance, transparency and accountability are essential components of good management and are required for the soundness of Organizations.

These days, Organizations need to adapt to a complex legal framework of compliance duties and, occasionally, reorganize their own internal operational structure. Therefore, some Institutions have taken the initiative to go beyond the strict compliance with laws and voluntarily adopt measures and practices to develop key aspects for the creation of a corporate culture.

This self-assessment report and the subsequent periodic review thereof enable the Organization to convey its serious commitment to a culture of compliance, transparency and integrity to its partners, investors or consumers, thus building trust amongst its main stakeholders.

II. PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THE PRACTICAL GUIDE MODEL

The main purpose of the Practical Guide to Corporate Governance Assessment model is to guide and assist Organizations in the evaluation and strengthening of their compliance policies and good corporate practices, taking into consideration thirteen aspects:

A- Transparency and Disclosure of Information

These aspects seek to identify instruments and measure policies guaranteeing the right to access information and transparency standards.

A transparent management and open data improve decision-making and optimize the operation of the market for the rendering of services.

B- Voting and Shareholders' Rights

This aspect assesses the mechanisms governing the interest of shareholders in the Institution. The criteria set forth propose measuring rules and requirements to be taken into consideration in order to achieve the adequate development of the meetings of the top corporate body and disclosing, in a proper manner, the resolutions adopted and other aspects related thereto.

C- Board of Directors Competencies

This aspect proposes measuring matters related to the governance of the Institution, such as, transparency, equity, specialization and independence. Currently, the authorities take a proactive stance and are interested in pursuing best practices, such as the assessment of their Corporate Governance through a self-assessment process that ensures the efficiency of the Board of Directors and by implementing principles and standards on the matter, thus promoting adequate organizational transparency.

D- Composition and Operation of the Board of Directors

This aspect proposes evaluating the aptitude, independence and operation of the Board of Directors in order to identify positive or negative aspects and take action accordingly. Findings allow inferring the expected behavior and capabilities to achieve the intended results.

E- Powers of Controlling Bodies (Internal Audit Unit, External Audit, SIGEN, B.C.R.A., C.N.V., I.G.J.).

This aspect seeks to analyze the degree of independence and objectivity of controlling bodies, both external and internal, that govern the Organization. Adherence thereto is substantial for the protection of shareholders against fraud and losses, ensuring truthfulness of legal and financial activities of the Organization.

F- Management

The assessment of this aspect produces information on the effectiveness, efficiency and planning of the Organization's management programs. It is worth mentioning its significance as a support mechanism to ensure proper performance of all transactions in order to maximize benefits.

G- Values and Principles of the Organization

This aspect refers to the manner in which the Organization incorporates a set of ethical principles into decision-making, its strategic objectives and processes for all members of the Organization. The assessment of this aspect provides a benchmark in order to calculate the desired level of commitment and identification of members with the business approach of the Company.

H- Anti-Money Laundering Policy

This aspect addresses structural and functional elements for the purpose of providing an overview of the degree of development as regards the "Anti-Money Laundering" policy in place in the Organization. Measurement thereof enables the Institution to know how standards concerning money laundering are established and to which degree such aspect is communicated to all hierarchical levels.

I- Integral Risk Management and Compliance Policy

This aspect seeks to evaluate mechanisms that help grasping knowledge on measures to prevent or mitigate the risks to which the Organization is subject. Furthermore, it identifies and advises on Compliance Risk in Organizations, i.e.,

the risk of being subject to sanctions for legal or regulatory noncompliance, of suffering financial losses or reputational damages resulting from failure to comply with applicable laws, regulations, codes of ethics and best practices.

J- Human Resources Policy

This aspect refers to the way in which the Organization knows and manages the personnel that make up its structure, emphasizing especially on their development and performance. The assessment of this aspect represents a tool available to the human resources management systems and results thereof may be used to develop or improve the existing programs.

K- Corporate Social Responsibility Policy

This aspect refers to the fundamentals of Sustainability in place in the Institution as regards the creation of value in connection with its performance. The results of the assessment thereof serve as benchmark for the establishment of a sustainable management system and policy and for compliance with applicable regulatory and legal requirements.

L- Procurement and Contracting Policy

This aspect seeks to assess the efficiency of Procurement and Contracting procedures under transparency, sustainability and competitiveness criteria. The creation of Procurement and Contracting policies, together with transparency and integrity of processes are essential for the quality of management.

M- Users' Rights

This aspect establishes measurement parameters as regards organizational structure and procedures implemented by the Organization in order to address, follow up and solve inquiries and/or claims made by users. Focus is made on discovering if the Organization has adequate prevention, mitigation and recovery structures and procedures in place to face adverse impacts that its property and/or services may have on users.

III. ASSESSMENT STRUCTURE

This Guide model enables the Organization itself to conduct a self-assessment and report based on a series of indicators analyzed as “Compliant/Non-Compliant” (ITEM 1).

Once the Organization has conducted its Assessment, it may get to know the degree of compliance in each aspect and make proposals/recommendations for addressing the deficiencies observed, as well as estimate terms for implementation to optimize management (ITEM 2).

It is recommended that the Assessment be performed on an annual basis in order to ensure the efficiency of the governance systems and the decision to disclose the results shall rest on Management.

In order to provide a uniform interpretation of the various concepts covered in this document, a definition of Corporate Governance has been included in the “Glossary” together with a brief description of the basic concepts contemplated in the Guide.
